

What people are saying about Happenstance:

Artists

Good songs, and a lot of very spirited good energy..... positive things to say about love, and long time relationships, and overcoming obstacles.....

- Steve Gillette Singer-Songwriter

"Happenstance is a real team of a band. Everyone works together to spin their parts into recordings and performances that slip over you like long lost flannel shirts. These guys are somehow both fresh and familiar, and their warm harmonies and tight playing go down easy."

- Tom Kimmel Singer-Songwriter

Happenstance is a Southern-fried Crosby, Stills & Nash. Three veteran Arkansas folksingers combine their songs and voices for a whole that's even greater than its talented parts.

- Steve Brooks Singer-Songwriter

Real songs by and about real people..... I get a feeling after listening that I know these guys. Oh, wait. I DO know these guys!

- Eric Schwartz Singer-Songwriter

An honesty of intent that is rare these days. You can just feel how much fun they're having. It comes shining right through in every song.

- Still on the Hill (Donna and Kelly)

I was delighted..... found myself smiling and agreeing with the stories - then thinking 'I need to cover some of these tunes'.

- Jack Motley Singer-Songwriter

Media

It's just plain good music, nice harmonies, snappy melodies, lyrics that make sense, and a consistently upbeat message.

- Peter Read "Nightflying"

(Happenstance) impressed with solid songwriting and playing.

- Jim Harris (Entertainment Editor) AR Times review

Happenstance.....turned in a beautifully put-together set at the Brick Street Cafe official Festival venue.....Their WG song Deportee was lavishly arranged, with trading off leads, English and Spanish verses and three-part harmony on the chorus. They were also invited to perform an additional set at Brick Street...

-Joy Hance, in a "Nightflying" article about the 2007 Woody Guthrie Folk Festival
